The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

1 Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions

2 If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid, the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent

3 If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills and ordered their papers discontinued

4 The Courts have decided that a refusal to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office with out notifying the publisher, and the payment of all arrearages, is prima facie evidence of fraud

5 Subscribers to newspapers or periodicals removing are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party at the time of subscription, unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office

PORTABLE WRITING CASE, designed for Army use The most convenient article ever offered for sale by D BUGBEE & CO

IRON-CLAD STEAMERS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT
Washington, February 24, 1862

THE Navy Department will, until the 25th of March next, receive proposals for the construction and equipment of iron clad vessels for river harbor and coast defence

The vessels will be like those for the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and will be propelled by paddle wheels—The latter will be either wholly of iron, which would be preferred, or of iron and wood combined as the project may consider most suitable for the object proposed, but their sides and decks must be protected with iron armament sufficient to resist the heaviest shot and shell

The vessels for the Mississippi river and its tributaries are not to draw more than six feet water when fully equipped and armed at which draft they are to be able to make a permanent speed of ten knots per hour in still water and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for seven days steaming at that speed—They are to be armed with a battery of not less than four 11 inch guns

The vessels for harbor and coast defence are not to draw more than twenty feet water when fully equipped and armed at which draft they are to be able to make a permanent speed of fifteen knots per hour at sea and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for twelve days steaming at that speed—Their armament will consist of one or two fifteen or twenty-inch guns

The guns of the vessels for harbor and coast defence are to turn on a pivot in the centre of the vessel, so that the vessel's position

The proposals must state the number of vessels set in the bottom of the Department, which the party proposes to furnish complete in every respect with such armour plating steam machinery and equipments at all kinds, ready for service, except only the ordnance and ordnance stores and provisions—the proposition must be accompanied by descriptions, specifications, drawings and models of such character that the work could be executed from them

The price of delivery must be stated, the time within which the vessel or vessels are to be completed and the rate of steam to be paid for each.

It will be stipulated in the contract that one fifth the total amount will be retained by the Government until sixty days after the reception of the vessel in order to give it a trial, the remaining payments being made with due regard to the progress of the work, the contract will also contain forfeitures for failure to perform the conditions specified.

The bids must be accompanied by the guarantee required by law, that in a contract is awarded it will be promptly executed, and the names of the parties who are to become the sureties to the amount of the face of the contract will also be stated

The Department will consider any other propositions that may be presented in which the draft of water will be named is not exceeded

The Department will be at liberty to accept or reject any or all the propositions. law w17

Navy Supplies—1862-'63.

NAVY DEPARTMENT
Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, April 2 1862

SEPARATE PROPOSALS, sealed and endorsed "Proposals for Navy Supplies," will be received at this Bureau until 12 o'clock M on Wednesday the 30th day of April next, for furnishing and delivering (on receiving ten days notice, except for 5 per cent for which five days notice shall be given) for every thirty thousand pounds required by the United States navy yards at Charlestown, Pisquoha nock, Brooklyn New York and Philadelphia, Penn sylvania, such quantities only of the following articles as may be required or ordered from the contractors by the chief of this bureau or by the respective commanding officers of the said navy yards during the fiscal year ending June 30 1863, viz:

Biscuit, flour, rice, dried apples, sugar tea, coffee beans molasses, vinegar, and whiskey

The biscuit shall be made wholly from sweet superfine flour of the manufacture of the year 1861 or 1862, but shall in all cases be manufactured from flour made of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same, and shall be fully equal in quality, and uniform in size and shape to the sample which are deposited at the said navy yards, shall be properly baked, thoroughly kiln dried, well packed, and delivered free of charge to the United States, in good sound, well dried bright flour barrels, with the heads well secured, or in air and water tight wrappers in spirit barrels at the option of the Bureau

The flour shall be equal to the best Richmond and Baltimore brands, and of the manufacture of wheat grown in the year last or next, but shall in all cases be manufactured from pure, sound, well ground wheat of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same, shall be perfectly sweet and in all respects of the best quality, and shall be delivered during a regular shipping order free from all charge to the United States, in the best new well seasoned sound bright barrel or tierce barrels, as the case may be—the staves and headings to be of red oak of the best quality, strong and well hooped, with lining hoops around each head and equal in quality to sample barrel at the navy yard, two half barrels to be considered as a barrel and not more than one third of the required quantity to be in half barrels

The rice shall be of the very first quality and of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same

The dried apples shall be of the best variety, and shall be prepared by sun drying only and of the crop of the autumn immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same—and shall be delivered in packages containing not more than three hundred pounds

The iron hoops on the barrels and half barrels containing whiskey molasses and vinegar to be well painted with red lead

The sugar shall be dry and fit for packing, and equal in quality to the best Havana sugar

The tea shall be of good quality of the equal to the samples at the navy yards, and be divided in half and quarter chests only

The coffee shall be equal to the best Java, according to sample

The beans shall be of the very best quality white beans and shall be of the growth of the present crop of the states of the regulation size, and weigh 60 pounds to be taken as one bushel

The whiskey shall be fully equal to the very best quality of New Orleans molasses and shall be delivered in new well coopered oak barrels and half barrels, and with white pine heads not less than 1½ inch thick, the staves not less than ⅞ inch thick, the barrels and half barrels to be well coopered hooped and in solid form, to have four iron bands, one on each bilge one 1½ inch in width and 1 inch thick and one on each chime 1½ inch in width and 1 inch thick and shall be thoroughly coopered and placed in the best shipping condition one third the quantity to be in half barrels if required by the Bureau

The vinegar shall be of the first quality, equal to the standard of the United States Pharmacopoia, and shall contain not more than acetic acid and shall be delivered in barrels and half barrels similar in all respects to those used for molasses, with the exception that white oak staves and heads shall be substituted for red oak, and shall be painted and lettered as directed—to be delivered in the best shipping order one-third to be in half barrels

The whiskey shall be made wholly from grain sound and merchantable and be full strength according to the United States custom house standard, and shall not differ from it—It shall be delivered in good new well seasoned oak, three-quarters hooped with seasoned white oak barrels and half barrels, with white oak heads the boards to be made of three piece heading and well painted—the staves not to be less than ⅞ inch thick, and the heads not less than 1 inch thick, and each barrel and half barrel shall be coopered, in addition with one three pound iron hoop one inch wide 1 inch in width, and 1 16th inch thick, and one three pound hoop one inch wide 1 inch in width and 1 16th inch thick, and the three hoops on each barrel to be painted white—The whole to be put in good shipping order free of all charge to the United States on board the vessel with half barrel

All the foregoing described articles embracing casks, barrels, half barrels and tierces, shall be subject to such inspection as the United States Navy Department and Bureau may direct, the inspecting officers to be appointed by the Navy Department—All inspections to be at the place of delivery. Bidders may however, be inspected at the places of manufacture, but will still be subject to a final inspection at the place of delivery before the bids are accepted thereto

The prices of all the foregoing articles to be the same throughout the year, and bidders may offer for one or more articles and his proposal will be accepted for that for which his proposal may be lowest and will be more than a sufficient guarantee that either the same or other articles will be furnished in case of more contracts at the option of the Bureau

All the casks barrels and half barrels, to be in packages ship to be marked with their contents and the contractor's name—All the barrels and half barrels of flour and beef shall have branded on them the above, the year when manufactured or put up and the place where

(The samples referred to in this advertisement are those selected for the coming year and hereafter to be referred to as the standard samples)

The quantity of all or any articles which will be required cannot be precisely stated. They will probably be about—

Biscuit,	1000 tons
Flour,	1000 bbls
Rice,	60 pounds
Dried apples,	80000
Sugar	300 tons
Tea,	500 lbs
Coffee,	1 000
Beans,	1 000 bushels
Molasses	20 000 gallons
Vinegar	6 000 gallons
Whiskey	100 000 gallons

The quantities of any or all may be increased or diminished. The contracts will therefore be made not for specific quantities, but for such quantities as the service may require to be delivered at those navy yards, respectively

Contractors not residing at the places where deliveries are required must establish agencies at such places that no delay may arise in furnishing what may be required and when a contract is made to promptly to comply with a requisition, the chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, shall be authorized to direct purchases to be made to supply the deficiency under a penalty to be expressed in the contract, the receipt of the requisition or a duplicate copy there of at the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, or at the navy yards where said shall be evidence that such requisition has been made and received

Separate offers must be made for each article at each of the several navy yards and in case more than one article be contained in the offer the chief of the Bureau will have the right to accept one or more of the articles contained in such offer, and reject the remainder, and bidders whose proposals are accepted (and none other) will be forthwith notified and as early as practicable a contract will be transmitted to them for execution, which contract must be returned to the Bureau within five days, exclusive of the time required for the regular transmission of the mail

Two or more approved sureties in a sum equal to the estimated amount of the respective contracts will be required, and twenty per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of all payments on account thereof as collateral security in addition to security for performance, and a time assigned to be fixed until it will be fully complied with

Blank forms of proposals may be obtained on application to the navy agents at Portsmouth, New Hampshire; Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and at this Bureau

A record, or duplicate of the letter informing a bidder of the acceptance of his proposal will be deemed a notification thereof, within the meaning of the act of 1846, and his bid will be made and accepted in conformity with this understanding.

Every offer made must be accompanied (as directed in the act of Congress making appropriations for the naval service for the year 1847, approved 10th of August, 1846) by a written guarantee, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the supplies proposed. The Bureau will not be obligated to consider any proposal unless accompanied by the guarantee required by law; the company or the guarantee to be certified by the navy agent, district attorney, or collector of the customs.

(The examination of bidders is called to the annexed oath and description of articles required, as in the inspection for reception against but rigid comparison will be made between the articles offered and the samples and contract, receiving none that fall below them, and their attention is also particularly directed to the joint resolution of 25th March 1862, and to the act of the 19th August, 1846

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years continue to secure Patents in the United States also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries Caveats Specifications for Patents Assignments and all papers or Drawings for Patents executed on reasonable terms and with despatch Rejected cases prosecuted with the utmost vigilance and fidelity Inventions examined as to patentability and opinions rendered without charge Models of Patents or inventions not exceeding a cubic foot may be sent by express Copies of the claims of any Patent issued since 1836, costing one Dollar Assignments recorded at Washington

The Agency is one of the largest in New England and from its central position and facilities for securing Patents I flatter myself that it offers superior advantages for procuring them to those which can be had elsewhere The best of references given that in no more successful agency of the kind can be found in the country and from long experience in the business I feel confident that I can secure to applicants as prompt attention and as favorable terms as any other agency in the country

Persons who have made inventions and procured Patents through other agencies, and who from any reason fail to realize the profits which they had reasonably expected, will find it for their interest to call or address me by letter

Gen Pope Pursues the Rebels and Attacks them AT TIPTON

The Rebel Floating Battery Taken

CHICAGO, 8th

A special despatch from Cairo to the Tribune says dispatches from New Madrid say that the gunboats Pittsburgh and Carondelet yesterday shelled and silenced the batteries on the opposite shore, when Gen Pope crossed the troops across which was accomplished without the loss of a man

The rebels fled toward Tipton, sinking several of their transports and gunboats

Their floating battery, mounting ten guns, drifted down the river last night, and is now aground near Point Pleasant, and will be recovered with its armament The Ohio Belle will also be recovered

Gen Pope took the [illegible] and Carondelet, and with part of his army marched to Union and attacked the enemy this morning He took 2,000 prisoners and will probably get as many more before night

The rebels fled to the swamps in great consternation Our booty is complete and decisive Great quantities of stores ammunition and artillery Also all their tents and supplies Adjutant General Mahall is one prisoner

The country between Island No 10 and New Madrid, on the east side of the river, is being occupied by our troops The entire rebel force at and about Island No 10 is either taken prisoners or utterly routed and demoralized

Colonel Bissell has been ordered to Tipton, which is two miles below New Madrid, with a transport to bring up the cannon and other property taken

The Chicago Times special says that a messenger arrived

In Peace or War, on land or sea.
Our flag, the sign of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph Treason's shroud!

The Union Victory in the Southwest.

The details of the great battle near Corinth, Miss., have been received in part That the Union forces have won a glorious victory, after the hardest fight upon record on this continent appears to be beyond doubt, and it was probably the decisive battle of the campaign Still we must wait for more full and correct information before forming an opinion as to its effect, or in regard to the loss upon either side That the number of killed and wounded is overstated in the first despatches, we have little doubt. A loss of 50 000 or 60,000 men in the two armies, even supposing them to have included 200,000 men, is a greater percentage than has ever been known, we believe in the fiercest contests of the Old World, where great armies were engaged At Borodino, the bloodiest of Napoleon's battles, the Russian loss was 42,000, the French 30 000 the forces engaged being stated at 500,000 of the "Grand Army," to 300,000 Russians At Austerlitz the Allies lost 10,000 in killed and wounded, out of 75,000

Statistics tell us that a large majority of those who are fighting our battles come from the Democratic ranks, and every one knows that nearly all the leading Generals in command of our armies belong to the old Democratic organization

We take the above from Col Sweat's speech at the Citizens' Union so called, but really democratic caucus in Portland on Saturday evening last

Last fall, in a spirit of liberal patriotism such as in no instance, in no State, has been exhibited by the Democrats, Col Sweat was, by the aid and design of the Republicans of Cumberland County, made Senator in the State Legislature He not only does not thank them for it, but on the other hand sees them for their imperality He grossly wrongs them by the statement which we have taken from his speech It is not true in this State that a majority of those who are fighting our battles came from the Democratic ranks, and Col Sweat either knew this to be true, or knew nothing about what he said From several tests and examination it is found that of all the soldiers from this State more than three-fifths are Republicans—or fully in proportion to the voters. We do no wrong to the democrats who have gone to the war, and allow them to be equally noble and patriotic with the Republicans, and we think that they will look with utter disgust upon an attempt made by one who was himself elected to a high and honora e office by Republicans to decry their patriotism We speak from authority in the statement we have made concerning the proportions of Republicans and Democrats in the Maine regiments, and we have recently seen that in some parts of Connecticut the proportion of Republicans in the war is even larger than in Maine

The statement that nearly all the leading Generals in the war are democrats only proves, if true, the magnanimity of the Republicans Col Sweat endeavors to make out that they are both unpatriotic and incompetent Is this true? Is he the man to assert it?

A Rebel Letter. Among the letters found at Columbus, Ky, was one from a young man of the Tenth Louisiana regiment to his father at Baton Rouge The portion of the epistle which relates to military matters is amusing Its date is Feb 27th, 1862

"The d——d Yankees are whipping us, or at least it looks so Gen Polk says Tilghman always was an abolitionist, and that Buckner was a coward As for Pillow and Floyd, the dirty thieves, I hope I will live to see either of them, and I will not want to live another day if I don't shoot them on sight The Yankees are coming down to Columbus after us I am afraid we shall have to give in if they bring all their gunboats to shoot at us with 'Anything but the infernal gunboats,' says Gen Polk But I hear that we are to leave Columbus in a few days I don't know where we will go I think we had better go to some place where the gunboats can't reach us. Some of our boys are getting discouraged, but I still feel sure we can't be conquered. At least I want to try it again when my time is out, which will be next month. I will go back to the farm when this business don't like a soldier's life.

Senator Fessenden's Speech.

In his letter from Washington of the 2d inst., "Occasional," (Mr Forney) writes to the Philadelphia Press as follows, in relation to Senator Fessenden's position in the Senate, and commenting upon his speech on the emancipation bill:

At last the Republicans in Congress are beginning to shape and settle their policy for the future The speech of Hon William Pitt Fessenden, Senator in Congress from the State of Maine, yesterday afternoon, on the bill to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, was undoubtedly the key-note of the Republicans for the coming campaign It was the centre piece of a really great debate, and was characterized by lofty independence, deep thought, and a comprehensive view of the national exigencies. Mr Fessenden is a thorough statesman of the Clay and Webster school—recalling much of the manner of the one, and the solid judgment of the other He is never out of his seat Watching all the details of legislation, from the smallest bill that relates to the District to that which contemplates a million appropriation, he is perhaps the most severe and just man of the Senate — Eminently fair to his adversaries, as they all admit, he cannot be excelled either in his courtesy to them, or in fearless objections to his own party when his conscience demands their utterance He is probably less of a partizan than any member of the Senate, and yet his whole soul is inspired with the purpose of placing the Republican upon such a platform as will make them successful by showing them how to deserve success He is not in the habit of mingling in political debates As chairman of the Finance Committee a post always full of responsibility, and now more than ever difficult to fill, because of the national exigencies, he prefers rather to watch and limit the public expenditures, and to leave party harangues to others. He reads coming events in existing complications—warns his fellow Senators against extravagance—resists every appropriation not absolutely necessary, and points to the enormous debt and heavy taxation we are accumulating

* * * * *

These facts render his speech of yesterday a most important demonstration The first impression it will make upon the public mind is its manliness and moderation He goes out of the way especially to disavow every rash and radical measures that have been attributed to the Republicans, and in his appeal to the Border slave States he makes the powerful point that it would be better for them to adopt the liberal tone and action of the new Senator from Missouri, Mr Henderson who classes fidelity to the Government and opposition to treason among the first of our duties Mr Fessenden objects to Mr Sumner's bill for reducing the seceded States to Territories, as in disregard of the avowed objects of the war, and takes ground in favor of the bill to abolish slavery in this District, running a powerful parallel between the prosperity of sterile New England under the influence of free institutions, and the decay and prostration of Virginia, surrounded and oppressed by slavery

That part of the speech in defence of the President's recommendation as to emancipation is full of force while the vindication of the mission of the Republican party will go far to dispel falsehood and calumny It is an effort which will be read with pleasure by every patriotic citizen

What is most inexplicable to me, in the conduct many of those whose hostility to the traitors is or ought to be, sincere in the face of such proffers as that of Mr Fessenden and other leading Republicans, at the head of whom is the President himself Refusing to concede any thing these lose, too many of the Border State leaders, and too many Democrats who are anxious to be classed as ultra loyal insist that their peculiar ideas shall be accepted, and that nearly everything else is revolutionary and cruel Has the Rebellion made it every stronger and more sacred in their eyes? Shall every other description of property be depreciated and destroyed by the rebels leaving inviolate the very institution upon which they subsist? Are the Republicans to be ruled out of power to be assailed and misrepresented, to be muzzled and threatened, when they propose to do that in the District of Columbia the justice and policy of which have been frequently admitted by Democrats themselves? There should be at least as much generosity on the part of these Border State politicians as there is on the part of the Republican leaders of the country will fall into the very hands from which we are trying to rescue it The example set by men like Fessenden must be followed by politicians, or they will fail before their constituents

One more thought occurs to me at this point —viz that since the Republicans came into power they have repeatedly shown their anxiety to take by the hand loyal Democrats and Americans, in fact, men of all parties and nationalities I do not speak of Mr Lincoln's selection of hundreds of Democrats to high positions in the army, nor to the liberal manner in which such citizens were treated by the late Secretary of War, (General Cameron for there were probably military reasons for this course But look at Mr Fessenden's own State of Maine where the Republicans joined hands and put loyal democrats into office Look at Massachusetts where at the late election they did the same thing, or offered to do it The cases of New York and Ohio both Republican States are still stronger proofs of this generosity In Pennsylvania the Republicans added to elect many democrats In Indiana a Republican Governor appointed a democrat to the United States Senate. In Iowa and Wisconsin the same peace offering is tendered— Have you ever seen a regular Breckinridge democrat responding to these exhibitions? Remember! The spectacle was everywhere presented that the ultra assailants of these recognitions of loyal democrats come from the followers of Breckinridge in 1860 and the present owners, managers and dictators of the so-called Democratic organization What they are doing now is universally seen The Congressional movement to resurrect a party ago out the Republicans, under the name of democracy, is led by Vallandigham of Ohio

An Assault Case. A certain witness in an assault case mixed things up considerably in giving an account of the affair After relating how Dennis came to him and struck, he proceeded

"So, yer honor, I just hauled off and wiped his jaw Just then his dog came along, and I hit him again"

"Hit the dog?"

"No, yer honor, hit Dennis. And then I up and a stun and throwed it at him, and rolled him over and over"

"Threw a stone at Dennis?"

"At the dog, yer honor. And he got up and hit me again"

"The dog?"

"No, Dennis And with that he stuck his tail 'twixt his legs and ran off"

"Dennis?"

"No, the dog And when he came back at me he got me down and pounded me, yer honor"

"The dog came back at you?"

"No, Dennis, yer honor, and he isn't hurt any at all"

"Who isn't hurt!"

"The dog yer honor"

(That will do," said the court We have had enough of you and the dog. You may step down"

The Scotch have a saying, "Who cheats me once, shame befall him, if he cheats me twice, shame befall me"

Nature is a great believer in compensations Those to whom she wants wealth, she endows with honesty and economy. The poor never indulge in wastefulness, but they have a style of appetite but perverse a quality these wealthy lords possess, and that is quite an evil.

A Savage-Horse Mr Joseph Clark of Portland, proprietor of the omnibus line, who was so severely injured by a horse last week, is now recovering The Advertiser gives the following particulars of the attack by the horse

"During the bad traveling in some of our streets last week, Mr Clark placed a leader in front of his other horses, but as he became contrary near the corner of Spring and State streets his traces were unhitched and Mr Clark took him by the bridle to lead him to the stable He instantly seized Mr C by one arm lifted him (although he is a large man) from the ground took him as a dog shakes a cat and then dashed him to the ground.

The horse then commenced pawing at then stamped on Mr Clark who lay prostrate beneath the horse's feet After striking Mr Clark several blows on his breast, back and arms, that at the time were supposed to be fatal, the horse walked off to the side of the road and stood quietly still"

Demise of the Secession Organ The face of the Morning Chronicle is a good many on the popularity of secession in England From the breaking out of the rebellion in the United States up to the time that it ceased to exist that journal was unwearied in its vilification of the Government and its applause of the insurgents We may attribute its defeat not to its unsparing denunciation of the people and institutions of the United States but, the fact that the American photograph did not recommend it to the support of the English people, given to simple and pleasing evidence that its finale met with a faint response in the British heart It was but another earnest of the changing tide of public opinion and we predict that a few more victories on the part of the Federal arms will leave the rebels without a single influential sympathizer in the United Kingdom.—London American

How did Floyd Escape? Various rumors are afloat as to the modus operandi of Floyd's escape from Fort Donelson The Union papers declare that he secretly withdrew on the night before the surrender, the rebels insist that he "cut his way" through the Federal ranks We have a private report concerning his escape, direct from the seat of war which, if not strictly reliable is so eminently characteristic of the man as to give it real significance Our informant states that Floyd he was so nervous after the probable disagreeable consequences (to him) in case of capture, that his men kindly consented to assist his flight by firing him from a cannon Having placed him snugly in a field-piece with this intent, while the gunners drew back to escape the recoil Floyd, in obedience to his very "taking propensities stole the charge and ran away with it"—London American

A young doctor, who had just graduated, was rallied by a party of young ladies at a social gathering, who affected a design of putting his knowledge of medicine to the test, one of whom asked—"Doctor, what will cure a man who has been hanged?" "Salt is the best thing I know of," replied the tormented with great solemnity

The Great Battle in Tennessee — The Bloodiest Fight in Modern Times—A Great Union Victory!—Reinforcement by Gen. Buell—Grand Charge of Gen. Grant—Retreat of the Rebels to Corinth —Gen Prentiss taken prisoner by the Rebels — Al S. Johnston, Rebel Commander, Killed — The Merrimac and Seven Gunboats Expected — The Capture of Island Number Ten—Official Report of Com. Foote—Hasty Evacuation of the Works.

NEW YORK, 9th.

A special despatch to the Herald, dated Pittsburg via Fort Aenry, April 9th, 3 20 A M, says

One of the greatest and bloodiest battles of modern days has just closed, resulting in the complete rout of the enemy, who attacked is at day break Sunday morning The battle lasted without intermission during the entire day, and was renewed on Monday morning, and continued undecided until four o'clock in the afternoon, when the enemy commenced their retreat, and are flying towards Corinth, pursued by a large force of our cavalry

The slaughter on both sides is immense We have lost in killed, wounded and missing, from 18 000 to 20,000 men, that of the enemy is estimated at from 35,000 to 40,000

It is impossible, in the present confused state of affairs, to ascertain any details I therefore give you the best account possible from observation, having passed through the storm of action during the two days that it raged

The fight was brought on by a body of 800 of the 25th Indiana regiment of Gen Prentiss' division at nearing the advance guard of the rebels which was supposed to be the pickets of the enemy in front of our camps The rebels immediately advanced on Gen Prentiss' division, on the left wing, pouring in volley after volley of musketry, and riddling our camps with grape, canister and round shot

Our forces soon formed in line of battle, and returned the fire vigorously, and by the time we were prepared to receive them, the enemy had turned their heaviest fire on the left centre of Sherman's division, and drove our men back from their camps, and bringing up a fresh force, opened fire on our left wing under Gen McClernand This fire was returned with terrible effect and determined spirit, by both infantry and artillery along the whole line, for a distance of four miles

Gen Hurlburt's division was thrown forward to support the centre, when a desperate conflict ensued The rebels were driven back with terrible slaughter, but soon rallied, and drove back our men in turn From about 9 o'clock the time your correspondent arrived on the field, until night closed on the bloody scene, there was no determination of the result of the struggle

The rebels exhibited remarkably good generalship At times engaging the left with apparently their whole strength, they would suddenly open a terrible and destructive fire on the right or centre Even our heaviest and most destructive fire upon the enemy did not appear to discourage their solid columns The fire of Major Taylor's Chicago artillery raked them down in scores, but the smoke would no sooner be dispersed, than the breach would again be filled

The most desperate fighting took place in the afternoon The rebels knew that if they did not succeed in whipping us then that their chances of success would be extremely doubtful, as a portion of Gen Buel's forces had by this time arrived on the opposite side of the river, and another portion was coming up the river from Savannah

They became aware that we were being reinforced, as they could see Gen Buell's troops from the river bank, a short distance above us on the left, to which point they had forced their way

At 5 o'clock the rebels had forced our left wing back so as to occupy fully two thirds of our camp, and were fighting their way forward with a desperate degree of confidence in their efforts to drive us into the river, and at the same time heavily engaged our right

Up to this time we had received no reinforcements Gen Lew Wallace failing to come to our support until the day was over, and having taken the wrong road from Crump's Landing, and being without other transports than those used for quartermasters' and commissary stores, which were too heavily laden to ferry any considerable number of Gen Buell's forces across the river, those that were here having been sent to bring up the troops from Savannah, we were, therefore, contending against fearful odds

Our force did not exceed 38,000 men, while that of the enemy was upwards of 60,000 Our condition at this moment was extremely critical, as large numbers of our men were panic struck, while others were worn out by hard fighting, with the average per centage of skulkers, who had straggled towards the river, and could not be rallied Gen Grant and staff, who had been recklessly riding along the lines during the entire day, amid an unceasing storm of bullets, grape and shell, now rode from right to left, inciting the men to stand firm until our reinforcements could cross the river

Col Webster, Chief-of-Staff, immediately got into position the heaviest pieces of artillery, pointing on the enemy's right, while a large number of batteries were planted along the entire line from the river bank northwest, to our extreme right, two and a half miles distant

About an hour before dusk a general cannonading was opened upon the enemy from along our whole line, with a perpetual crack of musketry Such a roar of artillery was never heard on this continent For a short time the rebels replied with vigor and effect, but their return shots grew less frequent and destructive, while ours grew more rapid and terrible Gunboats Lexington and Tyler, which lay a short distance off, kept raining shell on the rebel hordes.

This last effort was too much for the enemy, and ere dusk had set in, the firing had nearly ceased, when, night coming on, all combatants rested from the awful work of blood and carnage

Our men rested on their arms in the position they had at the close of the fight, until the forces under Maj Gen Wallace arrived, and took a position on the right Gen Buell's forces, from the opposite side of the Savannah, were now being conveyed to the battle ground

Gen Nelson's force opened up a most galling fire on the rebels, and advanced rapidly as they fell back The fire soon became general along the whole line and began to tell with terrible effect on the enemy Gens McClernand, Sherman and Hurlburt's men, the terribly jaded from the previous day's fighting still maintained their honors won at Fort Donelson but the resistance of the rebels at all points of attack was terrible and worthy of a better cause

But they were not enough for our undaunted bravery, and the dreadful desolation produced by our artillery, which was sweeping them away like chaff before the wind, but they knew that a defeat here, would be the death blow to their hopes, and that all depended upon this great struggle Their Generals still urged them on in the face of destruction, hoping by flanking us on the right, to turn the tide of battle.

Their success was again for a time cheering as they began to gain ground on us, appearing to have been reinforced, but our left under Gen. Nelson was driving them with wonderful rapidity, and by 11 o'clock Gen Buell's forces had succeeded in flanking them and capturing their batteries of artillery

They, however, again rallied on the left and recrossed and the right forced themselves forward in another desperate effort, but reinforcements from Gen Wood and Gen. Thomas were coming in regiment after regiment, which were sent to Gen. Buell, who had again commenced to drive the enemy

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Gen Grant rode to the left, where fresh regiments had been ordered, and finding the rebels wavering he sent a portion of his body guard to the head of each of the five regiments, and then ordered a charge across the field himself leading as he brandished his sword and waved them on to victory, while cannon balls fell like hail around him

The men followed with a shout that sounded above the roar and din of artillery, and the rebels fled in dismay as from a destroying avalanche and never made another stand. Gen Buell followed the rebels, driving them in splendid style, and by 5 o'clock the whole rebel army was in full retreat to Corinth, with our cavalry in hot pursuit, with what further result is not known, not having returned up to this hour

We have taken a large amount of artillery, and also a number of prisoners. We lost a number of prisoners yesterday, among whom is Gen Prentiss. The number of our force taken has not been ascertained yet it is reported at several hundred Gen Prentiss was reported as being wounded

Among the killed on the rebel side was their General-in Chief Albert Sidney Johnston, who was struck by a cannon ball on the afternoon of Sunday Of this there is no doubt, as the report is corroborated by several rebel officers taken to day It is further reported that General Beauregard had his arm shot off

This afternoon, Gen Bragg, Breckinridge and Jackson were commanding portions of the rebel forces

On several occasions Gen Grant got within range of the enemy's guns, and was discovered and fired upon Lieut Col McPherson had his horse shot from under him when alongside of Gen Grant Gen Sherman had two horses shot from under him, and Gen McClernand shared like dangers, also Gen Hurlburt, each of whom received bullet holes through their clothes

Our loss in officers is very heavy It is impossible at present to obtain their names. The following are among the number

Brig Gen W H Wallace killed Col Peugram, Acting Brig Gen, killed, Col Fiby, 10th Ill., killed, Maj Goddard 15th Ill, killed Lt Caufield, 72d Ohio, killed Lieut. Col Kyle 41st Ind, mortally wounded, Col Davis, 46th Ill, mortally wounded, Gen W T Sherman wounded in the hand by a cannon ball

BALTIMORE 9th

The Old Point boat has arrived She left there at eight o clock last night

The Merrimac is confidently expected with seven other gunboats, on the first favorable day

The weather is cold and foggy. Wind northwest

The latest news from Yorktown, by telegraph is up to the 8th Everything is progressing satisfactorily A battle is not expected within a day or two

The steamer Rancocas, which went up with a flag of truce last night, reports the Merrimac, lying off Craney Island The Yorktown, Jamestown Tender, and four small tugs, were in company, all under steam There is no particular change in the appearance of the Merrimac The impression aboard the Rancocas was that the whole fleet was on its way when the flag of truce appeared

The weather has not moderated There is some prospect of clearing up The storm must have been severely felt in the army advancing up the Peninsula, they being deprived of shelter of tents and compelled to constant watchfulness in the face of the enemy

The roads were now too good before They will now be brought to a horrible condition, and the public must not be too impatient expecting early results

We have exaggerated reports of the strength of the rebels, the formidable character of their fortifications, etc If is safe to deduct one half Whatever the force may be, however, they will be overcome

FLAG-SHIP BENTON,
Island No 10, April 8th

To Hon Gideon Welles

I have to inform the Department that since I sent the telegram last night announcing the surrender to me of Island No 10, possession has been taken both of the island and the works up on the Tennessee shore, by the gunboats and the troops under General Buford Seventeen officers and 368 privates, besides 100 sick and 100 men employed on board transports as our hands, are unconditional prisoners of war

I have caused a hasty examination of the forts, etc, captured There are eleven earth works, seventy heavy cannon ranging from 30 to 100-pounders, rifled The magazines are well supplied with powder, and there are large quantities of shot, shell and other munitions of war, also great quantities of provisions

Four steamers afloat have fallen into our hands, and two others, with the rebel gunboat Grampus, are sunk but easily raised The floating battery of sixteen heavy guns, turned adrift by the rebels, is said to be lying on the Mississippi below New Madrid

The enemy upon the main land appeared to have fled with great precipitation after dark last night, leaving in many cases half-prepared meals in their quarters. There seems to have been no concert of action between the rebels upon the island and those occupying shore, but the latter fled, leaving the former to their fate

These works were erected with the highest engineering skill, and are of great strength, and with their natural advantages, would have been impregnable if defended by men fighting in a better cause.

A combined attack of naval and land forces would have taken place this afternoon or tomorrow morning, had not the rebels so hastily abandoned their stronghold, to mature the plans of attack having absolutely required twenty-three days preparation

I regret that the painful condition of my feet still requires me to use crutches, and which prevented me from making a personal examination of the works I was therefore compelled to delegate Lieutenant Commanding Phelps, of the Benton

(Signed) A H FOOTE, Flag-Officer

The following items are from the Norfolk Day Book of April 21:

Twenty-seven thousand arms and fifty tons of powder have lately been received at Memphis

All persons having muskets or other arms in their possession had better deliver them forthwith at the Sergeant's office, or they will be fined

On Monday last the Catholic priest and the Episcopal minister of Nashville were notified that unless they desist from praying for Jeff Davis and the Southern Confederacy, they should be sent to Fort Lafayette.

Capt M J Wicks, the banker at Memphis, raised a company for the war, and then gave each member a check for $300

General Floyd arrived at his residence in Abingdon last Tuesday morning, and will take a short respite from the arduous duties of the field

General Humphrey Marshall, whose headquarters are now at Lebanon Russell county, Va., has called out the militia in Russell, Washington, Scott, Wise and Lee, in which last the enemy are threatening to advance, by the way of Pound Gap

Further advices from Pittsburg Landing give the following particulars of the battle

The enemy attacked at 4 o'clock Sunday morning the brigades of Generals Sherman and Prentiss being the first engaged The attack was successful and our entire force was driven back to the river, where the enemy was checked by the fire of our gunboats

Our force was then increased by the arrival of Gen Grant with troops from Savannah and inspirited by the report of the arrival of two divisions of Gen Buell's army

Our loss this day was heavy and besides the killed and wounded embraced our camp equipage and thirty six field guns The next morning our forces now amounting to 80,000 men, assumed the offensive, by 2 o clock in the afternoon had retaken our camps and batteries, together with some forty of the enemy s guns and a number of prisoners, and the enemy were in full retreat, pursued by our victorious forces

Our casualties were numerous, and include Gen Grant, wounded in the ankle, slightly, Gen W H Wallace, killed, Gen Smith severely wounded, Col Hall of the 14th Ill es killed, Col Logan of the 32d Illinois, wounded severely Col Davis of the 61st Illinois wounded severely Major Hunter of the 32d Illinois killed, Col Peabody of the 25th Ill nois, severely wounded Our killed, wounded and missing are not less than 5000

WASHINGTON 8th

The following was received at the War Department this evening

"General A S dney Johnston is body was left on the battle field, and is in our possession, also the bodies of a large number of other prominent rebel officers

The following was sent to Commodore Foote to-day

Navy Department, 9th.

To Flag-Officer Foote

Sir—A nation s thanks are due to you and the brave officers and crew of the Mississippi flotilla whose labors and gallantry at Island No 10, which surrendered to you yesterday have for weeks been watched with intense interest Your triumph is not less appreciated, because bloodless To that Being who has protected you through so many perils and carried you onward to successive victories, be the praise for his continued goodness to our country, and especially for this last great success of our arms Let congratulations to yourself and command be also extended to the officers and soldiers who co operated with you

(Signed) G WELLES
Secretary of the Navy

CHICAGO 9th

The Times' account of the battle at Pittsburg Landing, of Sunday and Monday says that the enemy surprised Gen Prentiss in the advance, 5 miles beyond Pittsburg, at 5 o clock on Sunday morning taking 2 regiments prisoners, and capturing the General

The fight continued during the entire day, the enemy driving our forces back to Pittsburg with fearful loss

Gen Buell with Gen Nelson s division arrived at 4 o'clock, and turned the tide of battle

The enemy was commanded by Gens Polk and Beauregard, who suspended the attack at out six o clock on the morning of Monday

The troops having rested on the field, and being reinforced by Gen Nelson s division supported by the gunboats, drove the enemy back, and occupied their former position, completely routing the rebels, who were immediately followed by several thousand cavalry, who at last accounts, were several miles beyond Corinth

The Tribune places our loss at from 600 to 1000 killed, and from 3000 to 4000 wounded — The rebel loss is twice that number

Six of our batteries were taken and retaken six times.

The Times says that Gen Beauregard had given orders not to destroy any of the camp equipage taken Sunday, as he expected a complete victory the next day

WASHINGTON, 9th

The Secretary of War has submitted to Congress a communication on the northern coast defences, enclosing an elaborate report from Edward Johnson of Connecticut, well known as a practical Civil Engineer, and connected with the joint commission of 1817 and 1819, for running and marking the north eastern boundary line.

Mr Johnson recommends the passage of Senator Morrill's bill, and the adoption of the policy of placing in the hands of the President the necessary power to accept loans of money from the several States for the public defence, as therein proposed, and among the modes of defence contemplated is the use of railroads and of floating ball-proof batteries in addition to the ordinary system of fortification. His report is the result of a careful examination of all the matters in question, including a long list of documents based upon a thorough acquaintance with the physical geography and the topographical features of the country

James S Pike, Minister to the Netherlands, in transmitting to the State Department a copy of the tariff and revenue system of that country concludes his despatch as follows,

"It will be observed that there is no direct tax on personal property or income, as such taxes are believed to stand in the way of industrial and commercial development, and to operate to expel capital.

The late decisive victories of the Federal Government in Tennessee have produced their natural effect on this side of the water, and when Savannah and Charleston shall have fallen, and our gunboats penetrated to the head waters of the Mississippi, and the forts on the Mississippi will speed in Mexico.

About two weeks ago Commodore Foote, in telegraphing to the Navy Department, said that Gen Pope intended to make a transverse movement which would astonish secesh on Island No 10 The verification of this prediction is already known to the country

The Senate was several hours in executive session to-day It confirmed several military appointments of low grade, and Samuel C Brown of Ohio to be Attorney of the Territory of Colorado

37th Congress—2d Session.

WASHINGTON, 9th

HOUSE

The bill to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia coming up in its second reading to which Mr Vallandigham of Ohio objected

The question recurred on the rule "shall the bill be rejected?" which was decided in the negative by 93 to 68

The bill was referred to the Committee of the whole on the State of the Union

The Pacific Railroad bill was taken up and Mr Phelps of California spoke in its favor

Mr Kelley of Pennsylvania advocated the bill

CONNECTICUT ELECTION Old Connecticut does handsomely in her emphatic repudiation of the secession sympathizers and of those who keep their "bad company" This is the first popular response to the Democratic conference at Washington, and it is decisive enough, it would seem, even for the case-hardened Vallandigham

What is the simplest way of increasing the speed of a slow boat? To make her fast.

GENERAL BUTLER It would appear from the following extract of a letter received in this city yesterday, and dated Port Royal, S C, April 3d, that General Butler is on the way northward

"Major General Butler arrived here last evening on steamer McClellan, from Ship Island for Boston He was saluted with fifteen guns by the flagship" —Boston Journal

THE CONTRABANDS Of ninety-one contrabands who arrived at Philadelphia a few days ago, only one was incapable of self-support, and she was an old negress, 104 years. The rest have been provided with situations as house servants and farm hands in the country

A correspondent of the Baltimore American says that notwithstanding the number of contrabands recorded as arriving at Old Point, it is difficult to get a servant They are still coming, but the number at the Point is decreasing The Government no longer places any restraint upon them and the men and boys hire themselves as servants to officers in the army, or ship on board vessels and transports, while others enter the service as teamsters, all making their own bargains, and acting as freemen.

"How is the market, neighbor?" "Very quiet." "Anything doing in cheese?" "Not a mite."

A grocer advertises in the following manner "Hams and cigars, smoked and unsmoked."

"You do a good many things, husband, you should I." "Oh, well, my dear wife, I make a square and right by not doing a great many things that I should."

Our Troops Occupy CORINTH.

Where Gen. Beauregard is Going to Write his Memoirs.

CAIRO, 9th

An officer who left Pittsburg landing on Monday evening reports that our forces occupied Corinth, and that General Johnston's body had been found on the field He also confirms the report that Beauregard had his arm shot off

There have been no arrivals from the Tennessee river since early this morning A boat is expected to-night

CHICAGO 9th

The Tribune's special despatch from Cairo 9th, gives the following summary of reports gathered from persons who witnessed the battle at Pittsburg Landing —The Federal army was posted between two streams about four miles apart that run into the Tennessee river nearly at right angles with it about two miles from Pittsburg The left front was commanded by Gen Prentiss

On General Grant s assuming command, the enemy were driven back, and the Federal forces occupied at night nearly the same position they did in the morning The fight lasted fifteen hours

Major General Lew Wallace came up from Crump s landing with 19 000 troops and in the morning the battle was renewed with great fury, neither party seeming disposed to yield Between 11 and 12 o'clock the fight was terrible soon after noon Gen Buell had crossed the Tennessee River and attacked the enemy in flank with 40,000 men

The rebels were soon routed Gen Buell pursuing them with 12,00 men, mostly cavalry, and the latest rumors were that he had taken Corinth

Eight hundred wounded are reported to be on one steamer on the way down

General Halleck is expected here in the morning, en route to Tennessee

Several barges of mules are ordered to go up the Tennessee to-night for the use of the wounded

ST LOUIS 9th

The Democrat s special despatch from Cairo, says that the rebels were pursued by 8 000 of our cavalry Rebel prisoners say that Beauregard made a speech to his troops before entering the fight, saying he would water his horse in the Tennessee river or in hell and that the fight before them was hell unless successful

ST LOUIS, 9th

Gen Pope s official report says that the canal cut across the Peninsular at New Madrid, through which the steamers and several barges were taken, is 12 miles long, much of it through heavy timber, which had to be sawed off by hand under water The idea of this great and laborious undertaking originated with Gen Schuyler Hamilton and the work performed by Col Bartlett s Missouri Engineer Regiment

Gen Halleck, with a portion of his staff, left for the Tennessee River this afternoon and will immediately assume command in the field

PHILADELPHIA 9th

A heavy snow storm prevailing

NEW YORK 9th

Hardest gale of the season is now prevailing. Three inches of snow has fallen, and is still snowing

NEW LONDON, Midnight

Gale here to-night The steamer City of New Bedford from N Y has not arrived She is probably detained by the blinding snow storm

LOUISVILLE, 9th

At the meeting of the citizens to night the Mayor presiding to make arrangements to take care of the wounded from Pittsburg $2,000 were contributed and more offered Any amount of hospital accommodations were offered

A steamer left to-night with medical aid and another leaves to-morrow with nurses and supplies

The young ones catch the spirit of the times Colonel B—— writes home almost daily and his letters are read by his wife to the children Little six year-old Sam was missing one night at supper time The house was searched in vain The yard was examined, and in one corner he had put up some boards for a shelter, on the ground he was lying fast asleep, wrapped in some bed-clothes he had smuggled out When waked up, he called out, "Leave me alone, will you, I'm Colonel B——, tramped out"

Somebody has said that "we ought always to believe less than we are told." This may be a safe maxim for general use but when a woman tells her age, the rule will not always apply

Laws of the United States,

Passed at the Second Session of the Thirty-seventh Congress.

[PUBLIC—No. 22.]

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, and to preserve peace on the frontiers" approved June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and thirty-four.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled,

That the twentieth section of the "Act to regulate trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes and to preserve peace on the frontiers," approved June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and thirty-four, be and the same is hereby amended, so as to read as follows, to wit:

"SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall sell, exchange, give, barter, or dispose of any spirituous liquor or wine to any Indian under the charge of any Indian superintendent or Indian agent appointed by the United States, or shall introduce or attempt to introduce any spirituous liquor or wine into the Indian country, such person, on conviction thereof before the proper district court of the United States, shall be imprisoned not exceeding two years, and shall be fined not more than three hundred dollars: Provided however, That it shall be a sufficient defense to any charge of introducing or attempting to introduce liquor into the Indian country if it be proved to be done by order of the War Department, or of any officer duly authorized thereto by the War Department. And if any superintendent of Indian affairs, Indian Agent or sub-agent, or commanding officer of a military post, has reason to suspect, or is informed that any white person or Indian is about to introduce or has introduced any spirituous liquor or wine into the Indian country, in violation of the provisions of this section, it shall be lawful for such superintendent, agent, subagent or commanding officer, to cause to be seized, packages, wagons, beasts, and other property of such person to be searched, and if any such liquor is found therein, the same, together with the wagons, teams, wagons and sleds used in conveying the same, and also the goods, packages, and peltries of such person, shall be seized and delivered to the proper officer, and shall be proceeded against by libel in the proper court, and forfeited, one half to the informer, and the other half to the use of the United States; and if such person to whom the liquor shall be restored and who bond put in suit. And it shall moreover be lawful for any person in the service of the United States, or for any Indian, to take and destroy any ardent spirits or wine found in the Indian country, except such as may be introduced therein by the war Department. And in all cases arising under this act Indians shall be competent witnesses."

(Approved, February 18, 1862.

AN ACT making an appropriation for completing the defenses of Washington, and for other purposes

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for completing the defenses of Washington: Provided, That all arrearages of extra allowances to mechanics for overtime or otherwise, in violation of the eight hour law, be paid out of the last mentioned sum: And provided further, That no part of the said sum appropriated by this act shall be paid to any work hereafter to be commenced.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the fifth section of the act of twenty-eighth August eighteen hundred and fifty-two, providing for the purchase from the service of unserviceable materials connected with the fortifications and defenses of the harbor of New York, be and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, That hereafter no person under the age of eighteen years shall be employed in the service of the United States, and that no person shall be employed in that trade, or business aforesaid, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, or in any way aiding or assisting therein, shall be severally liable to be indicted therefor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, two thousand dollars and be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That if any citizen or citizens of the United States shall, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, take on board of any vessel or receive or take into custody such persons as are above described in this act, for the purpose of disposing of them as aforesaid, he or they shall be liable to be indicted therefor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, two thousand dollars and be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That if any citizen or citizens of the United States shall, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, for the purpose of disposing of them as aforesaid, hire or purchase any such persons as are above described in this act, he or they shall be liable to be indicted therefor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable to be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act herein before contained shall be deemed to construct to apply to or affect any free and voluntary emigration of any Chinese or Asiatic person to any vessel carrying such person as a passenger on board the same, provided, however, That a permit or certificate shall be granted and signed by the consul or consular agent of the United States residing at the port from which such vessel may take her departure, countersigning the name of such person, and setting forth the fact of this voluntary emigration from such port or place which certificate shall be given to the master of such vessel, but the same shall not be given until such consul or consular agent shall be first personally satisfied by oral or documentary proof of the facts therein contained.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That all the provisions of the act of Congress approved February twenty-second, eighteen hundred and forty seven, entitled "An act to regulate the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels," and all the provisions of the act of Congress, approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-nine, entitled "An act to extend the provisions of all laws now in force relating to the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels and the regulations thereof," shall be extended and shall apply to all vessels owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States, and registered, enrolled or licensed within the United States, propelled by wind or by steam, and to all masters thereof carrying passengers or intending to carry passengers from any foreign port or place without the United States to any other foreign port or place without the United States; and that all penalties and forfeitures provided for in said act shall apply to similar offenses committed on board of vessels subject to the provisions of this act. And it shall be the duty of the collectors of the several districts of the United States, and of the officers of the revenue cutters, to enforce the provisions of this act, and to prosecute all violations thereof.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the fifth section of the act of twenty-eighth August eighteen hundred and fifty-two, providing for the purchase from the service of unserviceable materials connected with the fortifications and defenses of the harbor of New York, be and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, That hereafter no person under the age of eighteen years shall be employed in the service of the United States, and that no person shall be employed in that trade, or business aforesaid, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act, or in any way aiding or assisting therein, shall be severally liable to be indicted therefor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding, two thousand dollars and be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act herein before contained shall be deemed to construct to apply to or affect any free and voluntary emigration of any Chinese or Asiatic person to any vessel carrying such person as a passenger on board the same, provided, however, That a permit or certificate shall be granted and signed by the consul or consular agent of the United States residing at the port from which such vessel may take her departure, countersigning the name of such person, and setting forth the fact of this voluntary emigration from such port or place which certificate shall be given to the master of such vessel, but the same shall not be given until such consul or consular agent shall be first personally satisfied by oral or documentary proof of the facts therein contained.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That all the provisions of the act of Congress approved February twenty-second, eighteen hundred and forty seven, entitled "An act to regulate the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels," and all the provisions of the act of Congress, approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-nine, entitled "An act to extend the provisions of all laws now in force relating to the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels and the regulations thereof," shall be extended and shall apply to all vessels owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States, and registered, enrolled or licensed within the United States, propelled by wind or by steam, and to all masters thereof carrying passengers or intending to carry passengers from any foreign port or place without the United States to any other foreign port or place without the United States; and that all penalties and forfeitures provided for in said act shall apply to similar offenses committed on board of vessels subject to the provisions of this act. And it shall be the duty of the collectors of the several districts of the United States, and of the officers of the revenue cutters, to enforce the provisions of this act, and to prosecute all violations thereof.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That the twenty-fifth section of the act of the fifteenth April, eighteen hundred and six, shall be and the same is hereby repealed, and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 25. And be it further enacted, That in time of war or threatened war with any foreign nation or nations, the President of the United States, with the consent of the Senate, may appoint a general court martial for the trial of such offenses as may be committed by persons in the military service of the United States, and punishable by courts martial."

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the fifty-fifth article of the first section of the act of the tenth of April, eighteen hundred and six, entitled "An act for the better government of the navy of the United States," be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"ARTICLE 55. Whoever, belonging to the service of the United States, in time of war, shall desert the service of the United States, or, after having received his pay or any part thereof, or having given security for his return after leave of absence, absents himself without leave from his place of rendezvous before the time of such leave has expired, with intent to remain away therefrom permanently, shall, on conviction thereof by sentence of a court martial, suffer death."

(Approved, February 16, 1862.

[PUBLIC—No. 21.]

AN ACT to prohibit the sale of goods, wares and merchandise to citizens of the rebellious States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That from and after the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, all persons residing within any State or part of a State whose inhabitants are in rebellion against the United States, and for which the President shall have declared by his proclamation that the inhabitants thereof are in rebellion against the United States, and all persons residing within any district which shall be occupied by the forces of the United States engaged in the suppression of such rebellion, and who shall continue to adhere to the enemies of the United States, shall be incapable of selling, trading or dealing in any goods, wares or merchandise, or of buying the same for the purpose of selling the same again, or for the purpose of bartering the same for any other species of property, or for any other purpose whatever, and all such persons who shall sell, trade, deal in, buy or barter any goods, wares or merchandise, or who shall purchase the same for the purpose of selling the same again, or for the purpose of bartering the same for any other species of property, or for any other purpose whatever, shall forfeit and pay a sum equal to double the amount of the goods, wares or merchandise so sold, traded, dealt in, bought or bartered, to be recovered by any person who will sue for the same, in any court of the United States having competent jurisdiction, and shall moreover be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That all goods, wares and merchandise, and all ships, vessels, boats, and other vessels, and all horses, mules, cattle, beasts of burden, and all other property whatsoever, belonging to any person or persons, or corporations, engaged in any such rebellion, or in aiding or abetting the same, shall be liable to seizure and confiscation by the proper authorities of the United States, whenever found, and shall be forever held and disposed of for the benefit of the United States.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States shall be and he is hereby authorized and empowered, in such way and at such time as he shall judge proper to the end that the provisions of this act may be enforced according to the true intent and meaning hereof, to direct and order the vessels of the United States, and the masters and commanders thereof, to examine all vessels navigated or owned in whole or in part by citizens of the United States, and registered, enrolled or licensed under the laws of the United States, whatever they may be, whenever, in the judgment of such master or commanding officer thereof, reasonable cause shall exist to believe that such vessel has on board, in violation of the provisions of this act, any subjects of China, known as "coolies," for the purpose of transportation; and upon sufficient proof that such vessel is employed in violation of the provisions of this act, to cause such vessel to be carried, with her officers and crew, into any port or district within the United States, and delivered to the marshal of such district to be held and disposed of according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That this act shall take effect from and after six months from the day of its passage.

Approved February 19, 1862.

DR. SWEET'S

Infallible Liniment!

— THE —

Great External Remedy

For Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Stiff Neck and Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Wounds, Piles, Headache, and all Rheumatic and Nervous Disorders.

FOR all of which it is a speedy and certain remedy, and never fails. This Liniment is prepared from the receipt of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the famous bone setter, and has been used in his practice for more than twenty years with the most astonishing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN it is unrivalled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically, RHEUMATIC DISORDERS of every kind, and thousands of cases where it has been used, it has never been known to fail.

For NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however distressing.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE, in three minutes, and is warranted to do it.

TOOTHACHE also will it cure instantly.

For NERVOUS DEBILITY and GENERAL LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy—acting directly upon the nervous tissues, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores it to its lasting vigor.

FOR PILES—As an external remedy we claim that it is the best known, and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every sufferer of this distressing complaint should give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in a majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely unpleasant and dangerous complaints, but a few applications of this Liniment will never fail to cure.

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and so derangement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected. The worst cases can be conquered by this Liniment in two or three days.

BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, SORES, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT when used according to directions. Also, CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FEET, and INSECT BITES AND STINGS.

Every Horse Owner

should have this remedy at hand, for as a family use at the first appearance of Lameness will often enable to prevent those formidable diseases to which horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses utterly worthless.

Over four hundred (hundred) testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of this Liniment have been received within the last two years, and many of them from persons in the highest rank of life.

To avoid imposition, observe the signature and likeness of Dr. Stephen Sweet on every label, and also "Stephen Sweet's Infallible Liniment" blown in the glass on each bottle, without which none are genuine. RICHARDSON & CO
